

Peaceful GOODBYE

I offer a unique, holistic service at the end of a human's or animal's life. It's simple, and powerful and will only be effective if the time to go on into the next world has really come. It will assist the soul in the process of letting go as well as in the journey to the afterlife.

We all want to know what will come next. We all want to know that we can, may go. We all want to be assured that we will be safe journeying to our destination. This kind of accompaniment is a unique skill passed down from one generation to the next, that provides essential assistance for all those on the threshold. A loving service that offers peace to the soul.

Why help is beneficial

Dying is a process often associated with turmoil, helplessness, or pain. Dying is supposed to be natural, peaceful, even when the body is ravaged by some disease. To achieve this state, to find the harmony inside that will open the gates to the wonderful journey into the beyond, is a blessing for both humans and animals.

Sometimes it's easier to reach this state with spiritual assistance.

My help has rules, laws I abide:

- it will only open the gates when the time to leave has come
- it will abide by the free will of the one leaving
- it will ensure a journey as accomodating as intended
- it will guarantee integrity of the soul

Who may call upon my aid

People and pets when they feel their time has come. This accompaniment is meant to lighten the load for family members, too.

Those left behind if they need to know or make sure the soul of a loved one has arrived safely at the intended destination.

Those with questions about death and the beyond, ancestors or how and if to contact them.
